School Board Asks People's Opinion On Needs Of Future

The county school board announces a county-wide mass meeting to be held at the high school auditorium in West Palm Beach on the night of Wednesday, March 3. Every school patron and taxpayer in Palm Beach county is urged to give the meeting serious consideration.

Momentous years are just ahead in public education. The Palm Beach County School Board is endeavoring to plan a future building and expansion program to meet the needs for educational facilities in our county. To attempt this on a "pay as you go basis," would mean a long delay in securing urgently needed facilities. It is, however, possible to do this through a county wide bond issue. This appears to be the solution to the many problems with which the Board is confronted.

In considering a bond issue the Board is desirous of knowing the wishes of the patrons, friends of the schools, and the freeholders who, as you know, must vote a bond issue before the program can be launched.

The board will act upon recommendation of citizens and taxpayers of Palm Beach county. If enough citizens are interested in the proposed bond issue for improvement of schools, then the school board will go ahead with the plan. If enough interest is not shown, then the plan will be shelved.

This particular meeting is probably the most important school meeting in many years. The future of Palm Beach county's educational system is at stake.

Catholic Church Has Special Services

Special services are being held each Wednesday at 8 p. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Pahokee through the Lenten season by Father Peter Reilly, pastor of St. Mary's and St. Margaret's Church in Clewiston. The "Stations of the Cross" services will be concluded Holy week with Easter services on March 28.

Full Time County Welfare Worker Is Named For Glades

A full time county welfare worker has been assigned to county commissioner district No. 5 in Palm Beach county, according to announcement today by County Commissioner Paul Rardin. Heretofore, this area was served one day a week by one of two other workers from the east coast of the county.

Mrs. Mildred Schooler of Pahokee was recommended by Commissioner Rardin and unanimously chosen by the board to fill the position. She will devote full time to welfare work in the Glades district, having regular hours in Pahokee and Belle Glade and spending one day a week at the county welfare office in the court house in West Palm Beach.

The new appointee is well qualified to fill the newly created position since she has had considerable experience in welfare work. For more than a year and a half she has been a regular visitor of the State Welfare Department, working out of District No. 10 office in West Palm Beach.

Commissioner Rardin in commenting on the appointment of a full time worker for this district said: "I have been looking forward to this step for several months. The county board was convinced that one day a week visits were not sufficient to take care of the ever-increasing work. I am glad that other members of the board concurred to my request for a full time worker. It is another step toward full recognition of the Glades as an important sector of Palm Beach county."

Mackey Improves His Packing Plant

Robert B. Mackey, owner and operator of Mackey's Produce Company at the Canal Point packing house center, is completing this week a sizable addition to his packing house which will increase his working platform space approximately one-third. The addition is being added to the west end of the old Hickerson packing house which Mr. Mackey moved into more than a year ago after operating his business for some time at the Pahokee State Farmers' Market. It is of frame construction and is being covered with aluminum sheeting.

In order to improve his service both to growers and buyers Mr. Mackey has installed a modern new washing and waxing grading machine for the packing of peppers, cucumbers and similar vegetables and has rearranged his bean grading belts to a more advantageous position. His efficient operating force includes Parnell Enecks, office manager, Jack Strayer, packing house foreman, and Hugo Boe, traveling purchasing agent.

Mrs. Abbie Hyde of Fayette, Ala., has arrived for a visit with her cousins, Mrs. W. A. Howell, Miss Elizabeth Caraway and Mrs. Susan Renfro, in Pahokee.

State Bonus Plans Are Made By Vets

A move toward securing a State bonus for war veterans was given impetus Tuesday night as members of Porter Raulerson Post 2007, Veterans of Foreign Wars in West Palm Beach, adopted a resolution calling upon State legislators to enact a law to provide a bonus.

Announcement of the action was made by Albert Ashcroft, post commander.

It was announced the resolution will be presented at a 9th District meeting, VFW, to be held here May 9. It is also to be presented to the State Encampment, VFW, to be held here June 3-5.

There are now 500 members of Porter Raulerson post.

"You sit at this table, Miss Jones," the foreman of a large factory instructed a girl who was starting a job as instrument-tester. "Put these audiophones over your ears. Turn this rheostat handle until you hear a distinct oscillation, then place the amplifier diaphragm over these five points on the piece you are testing. If the oscillations are interrupted, the piece is to be rejected."

The girl looked blank. "I don't get it, boss. You'll have to come again."

The foreman had a modern daughter himself. He changed his style. "Well, honey, here's the dope. You put these doohickies over your ears and turn this gimmick till you're on the beam. Then you put this gadget over these thingamajigs. If the noise runs off the groove, the job is not solid. Now are you up?"

New Book Titled "Lake Okeechobee" Most Interesting

The dramatic struggle to combat the flood October, 1947, that extended from the valley of the Kissimmee river southward through the Everglades and eastward in the resort cities along the coastal ridge from West Palm Beach to Miami is told in "Lake Okeechobee: Wellspring of the Everglades" by Alfred J. Hanna and Kathryn Abbey Hanna. The book is published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company and was presented in a special Florida edition on February 21.

"Lake Okeechobee" tells how desperate efforts to wall off part of the flood from a huge triangle of farm land near Lake Okeechobee by using Conner's Highway as a dike proved successful.

According to Dr. and Mrs. Hanna it is the easiest of all tasks to point out what should be done about reclamation of the Everglades and the most difficult to find the means to do it. In tracing the history of the fight for reclamation in Florida from the time of the first legislative action in 1845 until recently when the Army Engineer corps presented a $208,000,000 flood control and water conservation program before the Rivers and Harbors Board, the Hannas tell of the bitter struggle to keep the swamps and rivers and lakes from submerging valuable farm and pasture lands.

Such early projects, the book states, as the Dissett and Bolles speculations when both men bought $1,000,000 worth of land from the State of Florida for purposes of reclamation now seem puny beside this new effort to prevent floods over an area of more than 15,000 square miles.

"The most compelling consideration confronting Lake Okeechobee and Florida today is water control," say the Hannas. "Only by it can the precious muck be preserved and stretched to service generations to come." Dr. R. V. Allison, of the Everglades Experiment Station reported that between 1914 and 1943 the average depth of muck in the lake regions shrank from twelve to six feet. Although sportsman, nature-lover, farmer and tourist all realize that the beauties and values of the land must be preserved, lack of funds, politics and a feeling of security in the levee stretching for 65 miles along the southern shore of the lake have bogged down reclamation projects, the book goes on to say.

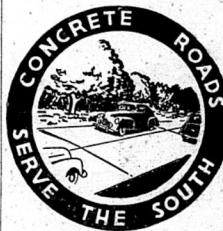

The story of the state's going into Federal Court bankruptcy to get itself refinanced and the construction of numerous canals and the perimeter levee to overcome the damage arising from years of ill-advised overdrainage gains importance in view of the devastating hurricane which swept over Florida last October. "The history of Lake Okeechobee is still unfinished," the authors state in reference to reclamation facilities.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hanna are scholars of long-standing reputation. Both are widely celebrated throughout Florida for their civic and public activities. As two of Florida's best-known historians and most distinguished writing team they reside in Winter Park where Dr. Hanna is professor of history at Rollins College and Mrs. Hanna is a popular lecturer.

Florida Greyhound line officials report tourist travel to South Florida about the same as last year. The Florida East Coast Railroad reports well loaded trains but slightly below last year. The Seaboard on the other hand states that its tourist business shows about 5 per cent increase.

Phil Lopp, popular radio entertainer and hillbilly singer, has been induced to act as master of ceremonies for the 1948 Hippodrome-performance in front of the grandstand at the Florida State Fair in Tampa, February 3-14.

The Farm Bureau Bulletin reports that consumer size packages of foodstuff such as frozen peaches, strawberries, asparagus, corn, spinach and so on, move much faster than large packages as indicated by withdrawals from frozen fruit and vegetable storage during the month of December.

SHORT-CUT to Accident--

The quickest way across the street can be the most dangerous way. To cross in the middle of the block, rushing out from between parked cars, can be and too often is a short cut to accident — and death!

In Florida, 170 people were injured, 71 fatally, from these causes alone in our first peace year. In 75% of pedestrian accidents the victims were walking in such a way as to contribute to their own demise. Actually, drivers in relation to pedestrians are more careful.

Florida accident records for 1946 indicate that jaywalkers are even more plentiful and careless and are pushing the pedestrian casualty rate to a new high. Someone must do some life-saving — and that someone is you.

When you cross a street or highway be personally responsible for your own safety. Don't expect the other fellow to look out for you. Cross with the light if there is one — with greatest caution if there isn't. It's up to you to walk safely and live longer.

Mr. Motorist—

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

The show that is to bow on the screen this coming Sunday-Monday was reviewed by yours truly in Miami a while back, and to my notion it is one of the most absorbing melo-dramas that I have sat through in a long time, with John Hodiak and Elizabeth Scott in the leading roles and a large cast of featured players in support, headed by Burt Lancaster and Mary Astor.

Hodiak is a big-time gambler, smooth s silk, and clever as a fox. Never in all the times I have seen this boy on the screen have I witnessed such good acting on his part. He is superb!

Lizabeth Scott, always lovely and thoroughly feminine, is about the most charming character in this story you have ever anticipated. How that girl can act!

All other members of the cast are exceptional in their roles . . . perhaps some of it is due to the expert stint of directing that is so noticeable in this picture.

At any rate I'm sure you'll enjoy every moment of "DESERT FURY".

See you at the movies—Mal.

The elevator is the most widely used mode of public transportation in the U.S., carrying more than 17 billion people a year, according to SKF Industries Inc. There are approximately 400,000 elevators in the nation.

Ashley Gang Story Told In New Book "Lake Okeechobee"

The saga of the Ashley Gang re-emerges in "Lake Okeechobee: Wellspring of the Everglades" by Dr. A. J. Hanna and Kathryn Abey Hanna published February 21 by the Bobbs-Merrill Company. Floridians remember with outrage the story of the Ashleys which began on December 20, 1911 when a dredge working on the canal between Fort Lauderdale and Lake Okeechobee churned up the body of a Seminole identified as DeSoto Tiger. He was killed by the ringleader, John Ashley, who had stolen $1,200 worth of otter robbery.

skins from the Indian. After hiding out from Florida police for over three years, John Ashley returned to West Palm Beach where his trial opened. Not content with life in jail, Ashley escaped and began a life of crime that had all southern Florida terrified and outraged.

"Lake Okeechobee: Wellspring of the Everglades" tells how the next year, in 1915, the Ashley Gang made its professional debut by sticking up the bank at Stuart. After ordering a shanghaied customer to drive them out of town with their $4,300 loot, John Ashley was wounded and captured and his brother, Bob, killed. Jailer Hendrickson in an effort to rescue the gang leader, Bob was mortally wounded in an ensuing gun battle and his brother, John, was at last sentenced to the chain gang for robbery.

The Ashley gang's rumrunning activities and pillaging of local banks extending well beyond the east coast and Lake Okeechobee into Central Florida gives grim reminder to inhabitants of this area of the trail of death and terrorized victims the Ashley Gang rounded out its decade of crime in the 20's "the flabby arm of the law, grew muscular," the Hannas say. At a bank raid at Pompano in November, 1923, when the Ashleys told Sheriff Bob Baker to hunt them down in the Everglades, he gathered a posse of men together and shot it out with them at one of their moonshine camps. Pa Joe Ashley was killed and the next November the rest of the gang was wiped out at the Sebastian River Bridge a few miles north of Vero Beach by Sheriff J. R. McRae of St. Lucie County.

"The vast uninhabited and untraveled expanses of the Lake Okeechobee region almost always provided a haven of safety for the lawless. When an outraged public opinion sent the Ashleys dodging to safety in the Everglades they might have enjoyed the longevity experienced by other infamous bootleggers had they been satisfied merely to run rum. But bank robbery and murder were a little excessive, even for those high-spirited days around the lake," the book says.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Hanna are scholars of long-standing reputation. Both are widely celebrated throughout Florida for their civic and public activities. As two of Florida's best-known historians and most distinguished writing team they reside in Winter Park where Dr. Hanna is professor of history at Rollins College and Mrs. Hanna is a popular lecturer.

Blair Will Serve As Cub Master For Canal Point Pack

Theme of the Morning Worship Service of the Canal Point Methodist Church on Sunday morning will be from the text in Luke 9:51: "And it came to pass, when the time was come that he should be received up, he steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem." There will be no evening service in our church. Instead, we will attend the closing service of the revival at the First Methodist Church of Pa-hokee. This is our custom in our regular services in past years. The service is in charge of Dr. Allen W. Moore and Walter B. Mann, whose music and meditations have meant so much to those who have been able to attend these outstanding meetings.

The Junior Fellowship, now with a membership of forty-two and an attendance last Friday of thirty-eight, is undertaking a new hand-work project, looking forward to Mother's Day. The Youth Fellowship is constructing games for the new Sunday School Building. Next monthly meeting of the Young Married Fellowship, some thirty-six strong, will be a Fish Fry with the Osie Uptergroves and the Randy Clarks as hosts on the evening of Friday, March 12.

All mothers and fathers of boys who want to become Cubs and who signed slips some time ago to that effect, as well as all other parents interested, are urged to attend an organizational meeting, led by Bill Nevens of West Palm Beach at the Canal Point schoolhouse on Tuesday, March 2, at 7:30 p. m. W. T. Blair has offered to serve as Cubmaster in the newly organized pack, but the cooperation of all parents involved is an essential part of the Cubbing program.

A large group attended the first meeting in the three-week Pastor's Course with members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service held each Friday at 7:30. The study book is an intensely interesting history of mission work in China entitled "Ten Thousand Years". All are invited to attend the next session.

The Woman's Society will meet on Tuesday, March 2 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. F. W. Cross of Canal Point. Mrs. W. K. Buchanan will be in charge of the Worship Service and Mrs. James Miller will lead the program. Theme of the month is "Christian Highways in Japan."

Evangelist Talks To Pa-hokee Lions

Dr. Allen W. Moore of St. Petersburg, evangelist who is conducting a series of new life revival meetings at the Pa-hokee First Methodist Church this week, was guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Lions Club. The subject of his talk was "The Humorous Side of Life." Also on the program was Walter B. Bann of Birmingham, Ala., who sang three vocal solos. Mr. Mann is director of the special music at the revival.

It was announced that Robert E. Martin of Fort Myers, Lions district governor, will pay his official visit to the local club at next week's luncheon. Plans were made for a Lions fathers and daughters luncheon on Mar. 16 with local girl scouts to attend as guests.

Jess M. Elliott, who represents the club on the civic hospital committee, reported that W. Manly King, West Palm Beach architect, will start drawing plans for the proposed new hospital building this week. Mr. Elliott also said a movement is underway to get the government to open a portion of the Lake Okeechobee levee for use as a scenic highway for visitors to this area.

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest, three-year search for a superior meat-type bird, is scheduled to end with the national finals in June, but A&P Food Stores, the sponsor, will continue the competition indefinitely on nationwide request from the entire poultry industry.

CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"CHRIST JESUS" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, February 29.

The Golden Text is: "Thou art fairer than the children of men; grace is poured into thy lips; therefore God hath blessed thee for ever" (Psalms 45:2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles; To open blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house" (Isaiah 42:6, 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was the highest human conception of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh. This enabled Jesus to demonstrate his control over matter" (482:19-23).

SUNDAY SCHOOL
OFFICERS MEETING

Some fifty teachers, officers and guests attended the monthly meeting of the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church of Pahokee, Monday night in Fellowship Hall. Supt. James Harry Wilkinson, Jr., led the group in the making of the plans for Easter Sunday. In accordance with the annual custom of making this the banner day of the year in view of the thought of resurrection as found in Jesus Christ, all are inspired to go, "that second mile," in attendance endeavor. The fine spirit of cooperation displayed produced for the occasion much in the way of spiritual uplift. The covered dish supper was one of the best, not to be outdone by the atmosphere of fellowship. The next meeting will be conducted March 22.

Candidates Take
Ribbing At State
Press Breakfast

WINTER HAVEN — Although Fuller Warren failed to attend the 1948 Press Breakfast, it did not prevent the newspaper and radio boys from giving him the works in skits and gags that kept an audience of 400 roaring with laughter throughout the evening. Had Warren been there he would probably have enjoyed the farce more than anyone else.

Highlight of the program was a skit written and staged by the staff of the Polk County Democrat of Bartow that took down the house. Loyal Frisbie impersonated Warren and all but had Fuller elected until he ran into Dan McCarty and that threw him for a loop. It was all in fun and swell entertainment.

Warren and McCarty again got the spotlight on the uprourious program when a hillbilly singer sang verses about the various candidates to the tune of Yankee Doodle. The singer was Phil Lopp, radio entertainer, and the verses were written by Russell Kay, Secretary of the Florida Press Association. The song was as follows:

Fuller Warren came to town
He didn't need a speaker,
For when he starts a soundin'
off
You hear him in Topeka.
Dan McCarty came to town
The band turned out to greet him.
He never said a doggone word
But folks were pleased to meet
him.

Candid Tom Watson took plenty of ribbing from the newsmen and the song about him was as follows:

Mr. Watson came to town
They thought he was a phoney
But when he started spouting oil
They called it pure boleyn.

There were a number of other similar verses about the various candidates but space does not permit the use of all of them. However, one that seemed to make the biggest hit with the crowd was on Bernarr Macfadden.

Old Macfadden came to town
So husky, hair and hearty,
That folks who'd never met the guy

Thought he was Dan McCarty.
The annual Press Breakfast is held in conjunction with the Florida Citrus Exposition, and the skits and gags are prepared by the newspaper folks themselves. The event has been staged every year for the past 30 years and is the unofficial fun session of the Florida Press Association.

Pre-Packaged Foods
Gain In Favor With American Housewives

RUSKIN—Thanks to experimental work now being carried on by state and federal experts and aided by the Florida Growers Association, the nation's housewives will ultimately be able to purchase fresher, better prepared vegetables at less cost from their neighborhood grocer.

On the farm of Paul Dickman at Ruskin vegetables are being pre-packed as they come from the field. All waste material is removed and only the edible portions of such vegetables as corn, cauliflower, broccoli and other products are put up in attractive packages for retail sale. They are kept under refrigeration and delivered to the retail stores garden fresh with all their natural mineral and vitamin content intact.

It is believed that as a result of this experiment the present day method of marketing fresh vegetables will be revolutionized with benefit to the grower, shipper and housewife alike.

Vegetables now being pre-packed at Ruskin are being offered at many retail outlets in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kemp had as a guest the past week her sister, Mrs. William Week of Louisville, Ga.

Mrs. Carpenter Heads
Scout Committee

Mrs. O. D. Carpenter was elected president of the Pahokee Girl Scout Troop Committee at a committee and troop meeting at the First Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon. Other committee officers elected were Mrs. Vinson Henderson, leadership chairman; Mrs. W. H. May, program chairman, and Mrs. Parnall Enecks and Mrs. R. F. Hurt, finance chairman.

Plans were made for the Girl Scout Troop to sponsor a silver tea at the woman's clubhouse on Sunday, Mar. 7, from 2 to 5 p. m. Special invitations are to be issued to parents of scouts and blankets invitations to members of all civic organizations. All proceeds from the tea will go into the troop treasury for the purchase of needed equipment.

Committees appointed in charge of the tea included refreshments, Mrs. Vinson Henderson, chairman, Mrs. R. L. Long and Mrs. O. D. Carpenter, assisted by members of the Seneca patrol; decorations, Mrs. H. T. Williams, chairman, Mrs. P. M. Cate, Jr., and Mrs. Parnall Enecks, assisted by members of the Seminole patrol; entertainment, Mrs. W. H. May, chairman, assisted by members of the Cherokee patrol.

Tenderfoot pins were presented to Marlene Williams, Carolyn Hickerson and Joyce Lindsay by Mrs. Joe Tom Boynton, troop captain. Mrs. Leslie Futch and Mrs. James Stafford, assistants to the captain, were also present at the meeting.

Moss Expects Fifth
District Of Florida
To Vote Republican

ORLANDO—M. J. Moss, Republican candidate for congress from the Fifth Congressional District comprised of St. Johns, Flagler, Putnam, Volusia, Seminole, Orange, Lake, Marion, Sumter, Citrus, Brevard and Osceola counties, has begun an active campaign.

Moss is basing his campaign on the need of two-party government in Florida as the only effective means of giving this state the consideration and federal support it deserves. He points out that "as long as Florida is looked on as 'in the bag' neither the Democratic or Republican parties are going to be much concerned about us, but once we send a Republican to congress we can rest assured Florida will receive plenty of attention from both parties."

Moss ran an exceptionally good race against Joe Hendricks in the last congressional election, carrying Orange county and registering a very substantial vote throughout the district. He feels confident that the Fifth District will lead the way to a two-party state this year.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

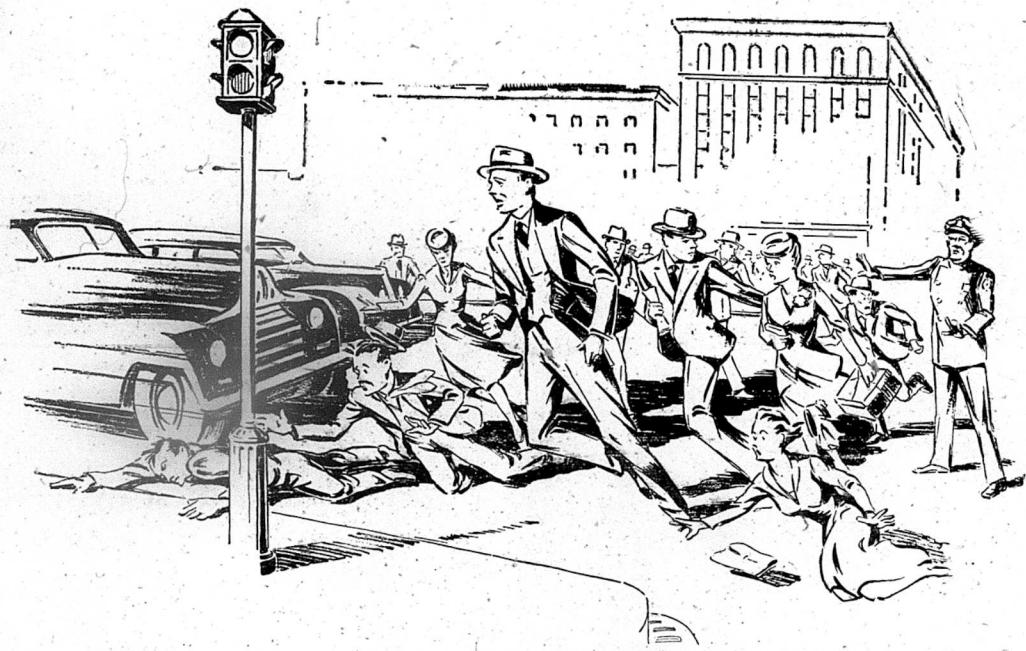

Where Does
Your Money Go?

Read the other day where country folks and farmers spend more money, proportionately, on their homes than city dwellers do.

Doesn't seem hard to believe when you think it over. Take the folks in our town, for instance: They're home-loving people—who'd rather spend an evening by the fire with a mellow glass of beer for Mom and Dad... things that belong with what we mean when we say "Home."

So it's only natural they put more into what means most to them and to their children: their homes. They

HURRY! HURRY!

Join the 11,200 pedestrians KILLED last year!

Don't go home to-night. Go to the hospital—or the morgue!

Why be around to-morrow, next week, or next year? Go on—dash through traffic when and where you shouldn't. Ignore red lights and safety signs. Make a face at the traffic cop who's trying to protect you as you tear by—hurrying to go—where?

Be impatient. Hurry, hurry and join the 11,200 pedestrians who were killed in the United States last year. 195 of them were neighbors of yours in Florida.

But perhaps you don't like the idea. Maybe you enjoy living and don't want to rush into Kingdom Come prematurely. That's different—and the answer is simple. Don't hurry. Wait just the few seconds it takes the light to go green. Don't take a short cut across the middle of the block, drivers aren't looking for you there. And no matter when or where you cross a highway, be alert. Walk safely and live longer.

RECENT OPERATIONS

By Paul Rardin

A headline says: "Eight-inch snow covers New York." After all, as I've said before, everybody can't be lucky and live in the land of sunshine. Snow storms in newswires are just as close as I want to get to them. For me, I'll take Palm Beach county—the Lake Okeechobee Region—and be perfectly satisfied.

Let's get away from the weather a minute and see about this group of fellows who want the state's highest executive job. There are many of them who would—with the help of the voters—succeed the cigar-smoking Santa Rosa Countian in the executive mansion on Adams street in Tallahassee. Of course, only one will get the job. Today your guess is probably better than mine as to who the gentleman will be.

Jax Attorney and World War Veteran Fuller Warren is beating the bushes in the north and western parts of the state. Recently he shook thousands of hands at the University of Florida. He probably knows more men and women by name than any other man in the state. That attribute won't hurt him any when it comes to getting votes.

Over in the neighboring city of Fort Pierce there is another young chap—Dan McCarty—who isn't losing any time in getting his ducks in a row for the forthcoming primary. Dan is also a war veteran and has a splendid record as a business man, citrus grower and state legislator. He was speaker of the House of Representatives at an early age and won many friends over the state.

State Senator W. A. "Bill" Shands of Gainesville has started an active campaign. He is a former member of the State Road Department and for eight years has worn senatorial toga in the legislative halls at Tallahassee. He has extensive business interests—Packer Signs—in South Florida and a wide circle of personal friends.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Colin English would like to move around the corner in the Capitol building in Tallahassee from his present offices into those swanky new ones recently finished for the governor. Hundreds of his South Florida friends and especially many of them in the Lake Okeechobee Region think he has an excellent opportunity to make the move. Colin is a former Lee County (Fort Myers) resident and has served faithfully and well for 12 years as head of Florida schools.

Taking more good natured ribbing than any other candidate is Fire-eatin' Attorney General Tom Watson who this week started a "go get 'em" campaign over the state. Never afraid to speak his mind, this particular candidate is going to surprise a lot of prognosticators and "know-it-alls" when the votes are counted the night of May 4th. An ardent campaigner, a hard fighter, a conscientious office holder and a man who has a grip on voters of the state—that's Tom Watson. Watch his smoke.

Down Miami way at the luxuriously swank McFadden-Deauville's Hotel on Collins Avenue resides another candidate—Bernard McFadden. His four score years riding lightly on his brow, the enthusiastic physical culturist has tossed his hat into the ring and says that Florida needs a business man for governor. His campaign literature carries a picture of Mr. MacFadden jumping over a tennis net at 80. That picture may get him a lot of votes, who knows?

Shuffleboard Has New And Unique Plan For Its Players

GULFPORT—There is probably more shuffleboard played in Florida than in any other state in the Union. It is by far the most popular tourist sport and shuffleboard clubs exist all over the state.

Now, thanks to the ingenuity of a Cleveland engineer, who has been wintering in Florida, an indoor cue-less game of shuffleboard has been devised which is played on a board with dice.

The new game is called "No Cue Shuffleboard" and is trademarked with patent pending. It was worked out mathematically so that every play that can be made on a regulation shuffleboard court can be made on this indoor board (except tournament penalties).

This indoor board is laid out in scale of the exact proportions of the regular court and the game may be played by two, three or four persons, or double that number when they are partners.

It is printed in two colors on light cardboard and may be folded and mailed. For playing, discs or counters similar to those used in parcheesi are needed and a pair of dice. These accessories are not furnished with the board but may be purchased most anywhere by the recipient of the board, or pennies and dimes or nickels may be used in place of discs if desired.

The game was invented by Rex McDill, engineer, who lives at Gulfport. He hopes to have the game distributed throughout the state shortly and available in all tourist centers. In the meantime it may be secured direct for 25c from Mr. McDill, whose address is P. O. Box 61, Gulfport, Florida.

To install the record amount of tile going into postwar bathrooms, kitchens and commercial structures, the ceramic tile industry is training one apprentice for every eight tile setters, highest apprenticeship ratio in the construction industry.

DR. RESSLER SUNDAY NIGHT

The many who have attended Dr. Ressler's preaching services based mostly on the subject of prophecy will have but three more opportunities to hear him. Because of his planning to leave the week of March 7th, that he might complete his series, a special service will be conducted this Sunday night at which Dr. Ressler will speak on, "The New Heaven and the New Earth."

CAMPAIGN FAVORABLE

WAUCHULA — Reports from key men throughout the state received here this week show Grady Burton, candidate for Attorney General, still leading the field in most sections and all indications are he will continue to hold this lead. Burton is continuing his active campaign and reports a most favorable reception everywhere.
